News release

Triple success for Kings Sutton dog breeder and groomer

Emma Towns, Kings Sutton dog breeder and owner of Posh Pooches dog grooming company, is celebrating three successes in a month. Having shown

12 of her Indijazz German Shorthaired Pointers at Crufts and collected 11 awards, her two new websites have attracted a massive 3,000 hits in their first month. In addition, Indijazz It's Showtime, one of Emma's breeding bitches, has given birth to 5 puppies.

The www.german-shorthairedpointers.com website has undergone a complete 'facelift', and now features information about the Indijazz line of GSPs, news and a gallery page. Emma Towns is the only breeder of German Shorthaired Pointers in the Midlands area, and her dogs are shown at all the major dog shows.

Emma combines dog breeding with her professional dog grooming service. Her years of dog show experience means she understands the importance of retaining the appearance of all breeds of dogs. Emma grooms dogs of all sizes and will also consider grooming problem dogs. Emma Towns' new www.banbury-dog-grooming.co.uk website, which went live on April 1st, is already on the first page of Google and generating enquiries from interested dog owners.

"It has been a breath-taking month," said Emma Towns. "To have collected 11 awards at Crufts and come home to literally thousands of hits on the new websites has meant I've been rushed off my feet. But the icing on the cake was the new litter of puppies of course, and I'm pleased to say they all have new homes to go to in a few weeks' time."

- ends -

Notes to Editors

Emma Towns is a former equine nurse and has been breeding German Shorthaired Pointers since the 1990s.

Emma Towns shows her German Short Haired Pointers at all the major UK dog shows including Crufts, and her dogs have gained many reserve tickets over the years. Emma's original GSP Jazaraz Jasmin, was the proud mother of the first Indijazz JW (Junior Warrant) winner, Indijazz Azara.

Emma Towns is now a highly experienced GSP breeder and also runs her own dog grooming company from her home at Kings Sutton, near Banbury.

For more information, please contact:

Emma Towns

Email: townsnoon@googlemail.com

Tel: 01295 810300

Mob: 07780 933083